Petitions By City Business Groups Clash On Route 23 Plan

Latest Moves Seek Support For Bypassing

Opposing Factions Set To Clash At Council Meeting

Opposing groups in the growing controversy over the proposed relocation of Route 23 here were forming their petition ranks Friday. The inevitable clash of views seems certain to come Tuesday night when rival petitions are presented at the regular meeting of city council. The state, in its latest proposal, has offered to care for all construction and maintenance costs if Route 23 is relocated to bypass the city on its western side. Changes in the corporation line would be necessary to take advantage of the offer. Council will receive the state proposal officially at Tuesday's meeting.

LESS THAN 24 hours after a group of 30 local businessmen met Thursday and decided to circulate a petition against moving Route 23, another businessmen's group decided to circulate a petition in opposition to the first.

The second group, led by more than a half-dozen business and professional men here, favors the bypass proposal.

Views of the second group were given by Elliott Barnhill. Others listed in favor of moving the highway out of the downtown section are Dr. Robert E. Hedges, William Weldon, Don Mason, Frank Barnhill Jr. and Dr. E. L. Montgomery.

The petition being drawn seeks the bypass covers six main claims as follows:

1. The physical hazard to children who must cross Court street to reach their schools is now great and would be greatly increased if Route 23 were made a four-lane highway.

2. PEDESTRIAN and auto traffic in the business section would be more hazardous. Business places would be avoided instead of being patronized.

3. There would be congestion and danger to life and property at the intersection of Routes 22 and 23.

4. The physical beauty of North Court street would be ruined. Property values would decline sharply and the cost of maintaining the highway would be considerable.

5. In a very short time, a four-lane highway through Court street would be totally inadequate to handle the traffic.

6. It is doubtful the taxpayers of Circleville would appreciate an increase in taxes to pay the city's share of building a four-lane highway on North Court street.

Copies of the first petition—urging that Route 23 be kept in its present location—were being signed in a number of local business establishments Friday, but it was too early even for rough estimates as to the volume of support they would draw.

EXPLAINING the counter-action taken by the bypass group, Barnhill said:

"We have no formal committee—just an increasing number of people who are helping us along."

Starvation Faces Fugitive In Missouri

PACIFIC, Mo., Aug. 29.—(P)—Police, convinced they have a cordon around William Merle Martin, 42, one of the FBI's 10 most-wanted fugitives, has adopted a starvation-out attitude.

"We can't possibly get enough men to comb those woods thoroughly," Capt. Lewis Howard of the Missouri Highway Patrol said.

"Our men could go within three feet of him in some sections and not know it. We'll just have to wait until he gets hungry enough to make a break."

A driver of a car, stolen in Birmingham, Ala., several days ago, fled into a rugged section about 40 miles west of St. Louis after highway troopers forced the vehicle into a ditch.

They said the man answered Martin's description.

Around dusk Thursday, two armed farmers, part of a large group of civilians who have joined county, state and federal authorities in the area, saw a man who appeared to be Martin walk from the woods.

The man spotted them and fled. They fired shotguns but apparently didn't hit him.

Martin, who began a crime career in 1929, got on the FBI list after the slaying of a deputy sheriff near Olathe, Kan., June 23.

Dulles Raps Small 'Termites' Within Federal Government

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 29.—(P)—John Foster Dulles Friday attacked small fry "termites" in government and declared a greater measure of patriotism is needed among all in authority as "we look into the awful abyss of atomic and hydrogen war."

In a speech prepared for the National convention of Amvets, the Republican Party foreign policy adviser declared:

"Termites can destroy the noble edifice that our forebears built. They must be rooted out, and the loyalty which qualifies their successors must be something more positive than the negative virtue of not being a known member of the Communist Party."

Dulles told the World War II veterans:

"When I speak of those 'in authority,' I have in mind not only the handful of conspicuous men at the top, but also the hundreds of thousands of government servants in all branches of public service."

Pumpkin Show To Be Feature In Publication

Circleville soon is to receive international recognition for its annual huge Fall festival—the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

Robert Colville, Circleville's "Mr. Pumpkin Show," Friday said he has received word the story of the Pumpkin Show will appear soon in American Magazine.

"They told me," Colville said, "there would be two full pages of color photographs about our Pumpkin Show. The magazine is to go to press on Oct. 1."

Colville began work to have the magazine use the story last Winter. Local photo enthusiasts were asked for color shots of past Pumpkin Shows for use in the publication.

Of the photos to be used in the magazine in the Circleville feature, Colville said three are the property of Dale DeLong.

The story will appear in print just in time to publicize the 1952 Circleville Pumpkin Show beginning Oct. 22. Colville was told the publication will be distributed in the U.S., Canada, Australia and Italy.

Legion Chief Asks Military Training

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Lewis Ketham Gough, newly elected national commander of the American Legion, urges national security military training legislation to keep the nation in a state of preparedness.

In his acceptance address, Gough urged "intelligence, firmness and courage" in combating Communism, and pleaded for a decisive military program for the nation's youth. He declared:

"For 34 years the Legion has had the answer for national security training that is universal, economical, effective and safeguarded by civilian control."

Bubblings Of Political Pot

Stevenson Hurls Series Of Challenges At GOP

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson loses his first campaign invasion of the East Friday after throwing a series of challenges at the Republicans, particularly on the issue of civil rights.

He plans to return to his office in Springfield, Ill., Friday evening and thus end the first skirmish with his Republican opponent for the presidency, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Next week, Stevenson heads westward while Eisenhower makes a campaign swing through the South.

Stevenson, possibly with an eye on Eisenhower's first trip, emphasized civil rights and the allied issue of the Senate filibuster in his last New York speeches.

This is what he said:

"The federal government has a direct responsibility to maintain progress by helping to secure equal rights for all our people. I have been impressed by the recent bill reported by Sen. Humphrey on behalf of the Senate Labor Committee."

This bill sets up anti-discrimination standards on employment in the individual states—with provision for the federal government to step in if a state does not act.

ON THE QUESTION of the filibuster, Stevenson said:

"The precise nature of the changes that should be made in the present rules of Congress is, of course, a problem for the Congress itself. As President, I could not make the decision, but I could and would use whatever influence I may have to encourage the Congress to shake off its shackles."

He pin-pointed his position with the words:

"In these perilous times, we cannot risk submerging our national purposes in a sea of interminable conversation."

Eisenhower told a delegation from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People several days ago that he is opposed to compulsory enforcement of civil rights legislation.

Roy Wilkins, administrator of the NAACP, quoted the general as saying he was opposed to the compulsory clauses.

"He just couldn't come to the

More Hospital Rooms Sought

The board of commissioners of Circleville's Berger hospital is calling for bids on a new wing to the institution.

The board, which will have about $300,000 to invest in the expansion, hopes to secure a building contract which will assure about 15 additional beds in about eight new rooms. Bids will be opened Sept. 30.

Red Cross Seeks Nurses For Polio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—(P)—An appeal for more nurses to help in what has been called a serious polio situation went out Friday from the American Red Cross.

Francis J. Check, state relations representative for the Red Cross, said the appeal goes particularly to inactive registered nurses to register with their local Red Cross headquarters.

conclusion that that's the way to solve the problem," Wilkins added.

Wilkins said Eisenhower told the delegation, however, that "every American is entitled to equal opportunity. I am personally working as hard as I can for the attainment of non-discrimination against any citizen."

Stevenson aimed a shot at the Republicans on this issue by recounting that in Illinois:

"I HAVE TWICE proposed a law setting up in our state an enforceable Fair Employment Practices Commission. I am proud that the Democrats in our legislature voted almost solidly for the bill."

"But I must report in simple truth that the bill was lost because of virtually solid opposition from the party which claims descent from Abraham Lincoln."

All these statements may have been designed to force Eisenhower, while he is in the South, to state his views publicly on civil rights and the filibuster.

Charles Brown 'Healthiest' Boy In State

Pickaway County, after erratic success in the early events, blazed into the forefront in the 1952 Ohio State Fair Thursday when a local 4-H youth was judged "healthiest boy" in the state.

The honor went to Charles Brown, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Circleville Route 2.

Brown will carry the hopes of both county and state to Chicago after Thanksgiving to participate in the nationwide competition. His trip to the 4-H Club Congress at that time will also be part of the reward for Thursday's victory at Columbus.

Brown, a member of the Deer Creek 4-H Livestock club, has given health talks in his home township and has also specialized in study of dairy animal diseases.

IN WINNING the right to represent the county at the state fair, Brown had 975 points out of a possible 1,000 on his health report. His winning score Thursday in Columbus was not available.

Brown's victory carries on an impressive series of wins for the county in state health competition. Ronnie Rivers of Mt. Sterling Route 1 won the county title in 1951 and then went on to take the state championship and one of the several national awards.

Ann Vincent of New Holland won the state title in 1949 and Betty Jean Riddle of Darby Township held the laurels in 1947.

Brown will be a senior this Fall in Deer Creek Township school. He has done farm work during the Summer in addition to his other 4-H activities.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Dwight D. Eisenhower closed his office door to visitors Friday to write speeches that an aide hinted would produce the "fireworks" his supporters have demanded.

The Republican presidential candidate intended to closet himself with his staff for three straight days to concentrate on addresses he will deliver on a Southern trip starting Tuesday.

This attention on what to say and how to say it followed complaints from some of his most ardent admirers that his campaigning so far had been too soft.

A stream of callers at his headquarters Thursday said Ike was "pacing his White House bid ably, building it up gradually to reach a peak just before election rather than firing his heavy ammunition now."

But with his Democratic rival, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, throwing increasingly sharp barbs in the general's direction, James Hagerty, Eisenhower's press secretary, told reporters the GOP candidate might explode some fireworks on his Southern swing.

PREVIOUSLY, he had not been slated to start his oratorical slugging until his Sept. 4 Philadelphia speech, at the earliest.

As he embarked on his literary task, Eisenhower was buoyed by word that he could expect a heavy share of votes from millions of Americans of Polish descent.

Five leaders of Polish organizations conferred with him in his headquarters here and later told newsmen they had informed him they could not support the Democratic Party.

"At Yalta, President Roosevelt sold Poland down the river the same as he did China," said Frank Wazeter, president of the New York division of the six-million-member Polish-American Congress.

"Our people can't feel sympathy for the Democrats."

Safer In Korea Than On Highway

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(P)—Nearly seven times more Americans were killed in automobile accidents than in the Korean fighting during the first seven months of this year.

The Korean dead in that period totaled less than 3,000. The nation's traffic death toll was 20,000.

The figures were made public by the National Safety Council which predicted 500 more would be slaughtered on the nation's highways over the long Labor Day weekend.

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—(P)—The Ohio State Fair winds up its eight-day run Friday and Howard S. Foust, fair manager, already is planning the 1953 exposition—a highlight of the state's sesquicentennial celebration.

Foust said Thursday he hoped he could arrange all free admissions next year so "everyone in Ohio can come to the fair." This year gate admission was 75 cents for adults.

The fair honored Gov. Frank J. Lausche Thursday, and the governor spent most of the day on the grounds. He received a spontaneous round of applause from 10,000 persons in the grandstand as he walked across the track to award the trophy in the Governor's Cup race.

Prize beef took the spotlight Thursday and junior fair members cleaned up a total of $25,405 in an auction of 61 head of cattle. Top winner was 18-year-old Marian Doran of New Albany, whose grand champion Angus went to the Fort Hayes Hotel in Columbus for $2,215 a pound. The steer weighed 1,225 pounds.

The hotel also was the highest bidder on the champion car lot of fat steers in the senior division. The hotel paid 56 cents a pound, highest in the fair's history, to Jacob Caldwell of Ashville. The bill came to $10,953.

Charles W. Brown, 16, of Circleville, and Miss Jean Boetticher, 17, of Jefferson County, were selected Ohio's 4-H champions in health improvement. Brown won over a field of 27 boys and Miss Boetticher over 35 girls.

County vote stood at 43,013. By contrast, the best record in '48 was posted by sparsely-settled Pike County where 7,155 of 8,234 possible voters went to the polls.

In Stark County (Canton and its neighborhood) 99,015 of 187,899 voters—the report showed 45 million people—or 48 per cent of those eligible to vote—failed to do so all across the country in 1948.

Of Ohio's 88 counties, Lorain had the poorest record in 1948—only about 44 per cent of its 97,132 eligible voters cast ballots for president.

thetic to a party that made those things possible" Wazeter said.

Wazeter said the leaders who visited Eisenhower spoke as individuals, but they believed they echoed the sentiment of Polish-Americans generally.

The spokesman said Charles Rozmarek of Chicago, national president of the congress, supported President Roosevelt in 1944, but that he backed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican candidate, in 1948, and that he was in the Eisenhower camp this year.

Peter Yolles, editor of New York's Polish-language Nowi Swiat said Eisenhower repeated to the delegation his call for eventual freedom for Soviet satellite countries.

SPYRUS SKOURAS, president of 20th Century-Fox Film Corp., visited Eisenhower and said, "I came to give encouragement because some people try to criticize the life out of him."

"With the masses, he is the most popular man the Republicans ever had," said Skouras. "Ask any taxi driver. Ask the poor people. Don't ask snobs and stuffed shirts."

The movie magnate said Eisenhower was "the best-equipped man to lead the country and, naturally, the free world."

UNTIL FRIDAY, the biggest single air blow of the war had been July 24, when more than 500 fighter bombers and Superfortresses poured 1,400 tons of bombs on Pyongyang during 1,063 sorties.

Friday's first wave of jet and prop-driven planes battered Communist anti-aircraft defense, which pilots said threw up a heavy curtain of flak. Other waves concentrated on stockpiles, barracks, industries and airfields used to bolster the Communist war effort.

South African, South Korean and Australian planes joined U. S. Air Force, Marine and Navy pilots in this fifth attack on the Red capital since Aug. 1.

In the morning smash alone, 420 fighter bombers strafed and hurled 100 tons of bombs at two airfields, a power plant, factories, anti-aircraft batteries, and some 40 other vital military targets at the outskirts of the city that had a population of 342,000 in 1942.

Four large explosions ripped the area after the bombs hit.

The Air Force said UN pilots destroyed 24 troop and supply buildings, damaged 30 buildings and destroyed or damaged 14 gun emplacements.

U. S. Shooting Stars and Thunderbolts moved in first to knock out the anti-aircraft batteries surrounding the targets.

Then the fast jets unleashed 1,000 pounders on choice targets.

Allied air losses, if any, were not announced.

4 Allied Nations Send Waves Of Planes To Hit Vital Center

SEOUL, Aug. 29.—(P)—Warplanes from four of the United Nations Friday hit Pyongyang, capital and largest city of Communist North Korea, with the mightiest blow of the war.

Three waves of land and carrier based fighter bombers bombed and strafed the big Red nerve center in a record 1,403 individual flights.

Black smoke poured from the factories, supply dumps and troop billets at the outskirts of Pyongyang, which was forewarned of the raids by radio and leaflets.

A returning UN pilot said the city "was blowing up all over."

Planes from three U. S. aircraft carriers off the East coast of Korea flew 210 sorties over the Red capital.

Some 420 planes poured 4,000 gallons of flaming gasoline and 597 tons of high explosives on more than 40 Communist targets during the dawn-to-dusk raids. They sprayed 52,000 rounds of machinegun bullets on the area.

"I shall not give you my ideas as to the responsibility for the past," Dulles told the veterans. "If I did, I might sound partisan. For a Democratic administration has had the responsibility to conduct our foreign affairs during the years that led into World War I, into World War II, into the Korean War, and that have led us into what President Truman this year calls 'deadly peril,' and what Gen. Eisenhower this week identified as the greatest peril in our nation's history."

Dulles told the World War II veterans:

"When I speak of those 'in authority,' I have in mind not only the handful of conspicuous men at the top, but also the hundreds of thousands of government servants in all branches of public service.

"When government is so big that it spends $80 billion a year, a few men at the top cannot keep track of all that goes on. Often it is the inconspicuous persons who exert the greatest influence upon policy and, above all, upon performance."

"I shall not give you my ideas as to the responsibility for the past," Dulles told the veterans. "If I did, I might sound partisan. For a Democratic administration has had the responsibility to conduct our foreign affairs during the years that led into World War I, into World War II, into the Korean War, and that have led us into what President Truman this year calls 'deadly peril,' and what Gen. Eisenhower this week identified as the greatest peril in our nation's history."

Stevenson Hurls Series Of Challenges At GOP

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Gov. Adlai Stevenson loses his first campaign invasion of the East Friday after throwing a series of challenges at the Republicans, particularly on the issue of civil rights.

He plans to return to his office in Springfield, Ill., Friday evening and thus end the first skirmish with his Republican opponent for the presidency, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Next week, Stevenson heads westward while Eisenhower makes a campaign swing through the South.

Stevenson, possibly with an eye on Eisenhower's first trip, emphasized civil rights and the allied issue of the Senate filibuster in his last New York speeches.

This is what he said: "The federal government has a direct responsibility to maintain progress by helping to secure equal rights for all our people. I have been impressed by the recent bill reported by Sen. Humphrey on behalf of the Senate Labor Committee."

This bill sets up anti-discrimination standards on employment in the individual states—with provision for the federal government to step in if a state does not act.

ON THE QUESTION of the filibuster, Stevenson said:

"The precise nature of the changes that should be made in the present rules of Congress is, of course, a problem for the Congress itself. As President, I could not make the decision, but I could and would use whatever influence I may have to encourage the Congress to shake off its shackles."

He pin-pointed his position with the words:

"In these perilous times, we cannot risk submerging our national purposes in a sea of interminable conversation."

Eisenhower told a delegation from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People several days ago that he is opposed to compulsory enforcement of civil rights legislation.

Roy Wilkins, administrator of the NAACP, quoted the general as saying he was opposed to the compulsory clauses.

"He just couldn't come to the conclusion that that's the way to solve the problem," Wilkins added.

Wilkins said Eisenhower told the delegation, however, that "every American is entitled to equal opportunity. I am personally working as hard as I can for the attainment of non-discrimination against any citizen."

Stevenson aimed a shot at the Republicans on this issue by recounting that in Illinois:

"I HAVE TWICE proposed a law setting up in our state an enforceable Fair Employment Practices Commission. I am proud that the Democrats in our legislature voted almost solidly for the bill."

"But I must report in simple truth that the bill was lost because of virtually solid opposition from the party which claims descent from Abraham Lincoln."

All these statements may have been designed to force Eisenhower, while he is in the South, to state his views publicly on civil rights and the filibuster.

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Dwight D. Eisenhower closed his office door to visitors Friday to write speeches that an aide hinted would produce the "fireworks" his supporters have demanded.

The Republican presidential candidate intended to closet himself with his staff for three straight days to concentrate on addresses he will deliver on a Southern trip starting Tuesday.

This attention on what to say and how to say it followed complaints from some of his most ardent admirers that his campaigning so far had been too soft.

A stream of callers at his headquarters Thursday said Ike was "pacing his White House bid, building it up gradually to reach a peak just before election rather than firing his heavy ammunition now."

But with his Democratic rival, Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, throwing increasingly sharp barbs in the general's direction, James Hagerly, Eisenhower's press secretary, told reporters the GOP candidate might explode some fire-works on his Southern swing.

PREVIOUSLY, he had not been slated to start his oratorical slugging until his Sept. 4 Philadelphia speech, at the earliest.

As he embarked on his literary task, Eisenhower was buoyed by word that he could expect a heavy share of votes from millions of Americans of Polish descent.

Five leaders of Polish organizations conferred with him in his headquarters here and later told newsmen they had informed him they could not support the Democratic Party.

"At Yalta, President Roosevelt sold Poland down the river the same as he did China," said Frank Wazeter, president of the New York division of the six-million-member Polish-American Congress.

"Our people can't feel sympathy with Poland," he said.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(P)—Nearly seven times more Americans were killed in automobile accidents than in the Korean fighting during the first seven months of this year.

The figures were made public by the National Safety Council which predicted 500 more would be slaughtered on the nation's highways over the long Labor Day weekend.

The Korean dead in that period totaled less than 3,000. The nation's traffic death toll was 20,000.

Charles Brown 'Healthiest' Boy In State

Pickaway County, after erratic success in the early events, blazed into the forefront in the 1952 Ohio State Fair Thursday when a local 4-H youth was judged "healthiest boy" in the state.

The honor went to Charles Brown, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Circleville Route 2.

Brown will carry the hopes of both county and state to Chicago after Thanksgiving to participate in the nationwide competition. His trip to the 4-H Club Congress at that time will also be part of the reward for Thursday's victory at Columbus.

Brown, a member of the Deer Creek 4-H Livestock club, has given health talks in his home township and has also specialized in study of dairy animal diseases.

IN WINNING the right to represent the county at the state fair, Brown had 975 points out of a possible 1,000 on his health report. His winning score Thursday in Columbus was not available.

Brown's victory carries on an impressive series of wins for the county in state health competition. Ronnie Rivers of Mt. Sterling Route 1 won the county title in 1951 and then went on to take the state championship and one of the several national awards.

Ann Vincent of New Holland won the state title in 1949 and Betty Jean Riddle of Darby Township held the laurels in 1947.

Brown will be a senior this fall in Deer Creek Township school. He has done farm work during the summer in addition to his other 4-H activities.

Addie Wertman of East Franklin street competed for Pickaway County in the 1952 state fair's "healthiest girl" class. Her rating had not yet been announced.

More Hospital Rooms Sought

The board of commissioners of Circleville's Berger hospital is calling for bids on a new wing to the institution.

The board, which will have about $300,000 to invest in the expansion, hopes to secure a building contract which will assure about 15 additional beds in about eight new rooms. Bids will be opened Sept. 30.

Heavy Atlantic waves Thursday crippled an Air Force plane sent to pick up T-Sgt. Charles R. Buggy and fly him to his Winnebago, Neb., home after a tour of Army duty in Germany.

At home, one of his two children was dead of polio, his other child lay ill of the same disease, and his wife—her back broken—faced critical surgery. And surgeons said they hesitated to operate on Mrs. Buggy unless the sergeant was at her bedside.

The first mercy plane landed successfully on the water near the transport but collided with a lifeboat lowered from the ship to secure a line between the two craft.

Buggy, a World War II veteran who enlisted in the Army early this year, has been stationed in Germany.

Business Good

SANDY POINT, Md., Aug. 29.—(P)—The new Chesapeake Bay bridge that cost $45 million to build took in $457,600 during its first month of operation. A total of 252,124 vehicles crossed the span during the period.

Francis J. Check, state relations representative for the Red Cross, said the appeal goes particularly to inactive registered nurses to register with their local Red Cross headquarters.

Red Cross Seeks Nurses For Polio

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—(P)—An appeal for more nurses to help in what has been called a serious polio situation went out Friday from the American Red Cross.

Francis J. Check, state relations representative for the Red Cross, said the appeal goes particularly to inactive registered nurses to register with their local Red Cross headquarters.

ADDIE WERTMAN of East Franklin street competed for Pickaway County in the 1952 state fair's "healthiest girl" class. Her rating had not yet been announced.

Prize beef took the spotlight Thursday and junior fair members cleaned up a total of $25,405 in an auction of 61 head of cattle. Top winner was 18-year-old Marian Doran of New Albany, whose grand champion Angus went to the Fort Hayes Hotel in Columbus for $2,215 a pound. The steer weighed 1,225 pounds.

The hotel also was the highest bidder on the champion car lot of fat steers in the senior division. The hotel paid 56 cents a pound, highest in the fair's history, to Jacob Caldwell of Ashville. The bill came to $10,953.

Charles W. Brown, 16, of Circleville, and Miss Jean Boetticher, 17, of Jefferson County, were selected Ohio's 4-H champions in health improvement. Brown won over a field of 27 boys and Miss Boetticher over 35 girls.

Stevenson Said 'Merely Puppet'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(P)—Rep. Charles A. Hallack of Indiana, co-chairman of the Republican Speakers Bureau, declared here Thursday:

"President Truman's press conference statement today about tidelands oil, and the disclosure this week by Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, that he would see Mr. Truman weekly for item by item advice on campaign problems, leave no doubt that the Democrat nominee (Adlai Stevenson) is merely a puppet—an Ivy League Truman, with a Jake Arvey halo over his head."

Metal Workers Strike A-Plant

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29.—(P)—Some 150 sheetmetal workers of the AFL Building Trades Unions walked off the job Thursday at the Fernwald atomic energy plant construction project.

A union official said the men left their jobs after a jurisdiction dispute with the AFL Millwright Union. Company officials declined comment on the effect the work stoppage would have on construction.

CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(P)—Great Britain, Italy and Spain bought American grains Friday and cereals responded on the Board of Trade by scoring moderate advances.

Brokers thought a good part of the buying came from export houses which were lifting hedges in wheat and corn as they made sales to foreign countries.

Dealings were not very active and some factors worked to keep the advance in check. These included improved crop prospects, renewed easiness in crude soybean oil and notices of intentions to deliver large quantities of wheat and oats on September contracts next Tuesday.

Civil Rights Issue Skipped By Sparkman

MENDENHALL, Miss., Aug. 29.—(P)—Sen. John Sparkman skipped the touchy civil rights issue in opening his vice presidential campaign before a Deep South audience Thursday.

The Alabama senator's blanket defense of the Democratic platform was the nearest he came to the subject.

The party platform that has caused strife among many Southern Democrats contains a proposed Fair Employment Practice Commission, anti-lynch and anti-poll tax planks.

"I realize there may be things in the Democratic platform that all of us cannot agree upon," he told an audience estimated at between 3,000 and 5,000 in Mendenhall high school stadium.

"But remember that this party of ours is made up of free people from all walks of life with many divergent beliefs."

Sparkman recently was called "a traitor to the South" for his support of the platform. His critics, dissatisfied Mississippi Democrats, formed a Democratic-for-Eisenhower movement and bolted the regular party.

County Schools Get $78,000 In State Aid

Pickaway County schools have received a total of $78,411.22 in funds under the third quarterly settlement of the state foundation program.

Largest single distribution in the settlement was made to Scioto Township school, which received $9,411.69, while Salter Creek was next with $8,391.01.

Complete list of the county schools and the amounts they received in the settlement is:

City Man's Son One Of Quartet Killed In Crash

Willard Riley, 35, of Lancaster, son of Mechanic Jess Riley of Circleville, was one of four men killed early Friday in an auto crash near Lancaster.

Other three victims identified by Lancaster police were Warren Creighton, 29; Donald Hoffman, 39; and Andrew Hummel, 33, all of Lancaster.

Riley, operator of the car, earlier had visited his father in Circleville.

Lancaster police said the accident happened when a cruiser gave chase to the auto in which the four men were riding. Police said the auto was speeding, and when the cruiser swung about in the street to attempt overtaking them the auto's lights were switched out.

IN THE attempt to elude arrest, the auto plunged over a 25-foot bank on Route 188 just about 200 feet outside Lancaster at a high rate of speed. The auto was completely demolished.

Riley was born near Five Points. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Lancaster 6th avenue Methodist church with burial in Pickerington. Friends may call in the residence at 520 Garfield avenue after Saturday noon.

Big 4 Agree On Austria Anti-Jew Law

VIENNA, Aug. 29.—(P)—The Big Four powers have unanimously vetoed an Austrian law which would have permitted prewar "aryanizers" to lay their hands for a second time on Jewish property they gained under Hitler.

The rare agreement between Russia and the Western Powers was reached by the executive committee the four-power Allied Control Council for Austria.

The vetoed law was one of seven recent Austrian statutes which have come under fire from much of the world's press, the U. S. State Department and Jewish leaders.

The four occupation powers approved three other laws aiding certain victims of Nazism but asked the Austrian government to broaden them to include thousands of Nazi victims who no longer hold Austrian citizenship.

Still awaiting Allied action are three other controversial laws granting amnesties and returning property to 34,000 former Austrian Nazis. Jewish leaders have termed these a "reversal to Nazism" and the U. S. State Department said it was "greatly disturbed" by them.

Tydings Calls Joe McCarthy A 'Coward'

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29.—(P)—Mildred E. Tydings, former Democratic senator, Thursday night branded Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as a "cowardly patriot" and said he may go to Wisconsin to "expose the senator."

It was the latest salvo in the long-standing feud between the Marylander and the GOP senator. Tydings has challenged McCarthy to make good on his charges of Communism in government.

Earlier Thursday McCarthy withdrew an offer to debate with Tydings on the same platform in Wisconsin.

"I wouldn't care to waste time debating with the dead," McCarthy was quoted.

Tydings retorted:

"Think of a man who one day invites me to come into his state, and when I accept and want to meet him there face to face he scurries like a scared rabbit."

"Now you've got the true picture of McCarthy, the spurious 'fighting Marine' who never fought, the cowardly patriot who won't defend his public statement."

"McCarthy now stands before the people of his state and the people of the nation for exactly what he is—a cringing, hit-run, despicable political and moral coward."

McCarthy is running for reelection this year.

Sen. Lodge Raps Stevenson Stand

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., (R-Mass.), adviser to GOP presidential candidate Dwight Eisenhower, has denounced as a "pious, insincere piece of double talk" Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's statement Thursday night against congressional filibusters.

The Democratic presidential nominee said "the sound of tireless voices is the price we pay for the right to hear the music of our own opinions. But there is also a moment at which Democracy must prove its capacity to act. Every man has a right to be heard, but no man has the right to strangle democracy with a single set of vocal chords."

District Boys Join Fair's High Ranks

Boys from Mt. Sterling and Ashville have joined other 4-H contestants who ranked high in livestock competition at the 1952 Ohio State Fair.

Junior Winfough, 15, of Mt. Sterling Route 3, placed first among approximately 30 entries with his Ayrshire heifer.

Joe Caldwell, 11, of Ashville Route 2, placed fourth in his class with an Angus steer.

Latest Moves Seek Support For Bypassing

is because we don't want the public to get the impression that one group is speaking for all the local business men when the whole question obviously is controversial."

Both factions plan to have representatives present at council's meeting Tuesday. It seems likely a spokesman may also be present for the state highway department, although original plans were to have the officials come from Columbus later in the week.

Advocates of the bypassing proposal concede that it would seriously impair the business of certain types of trade establishments along Court street. They maintain, however, that in the overall interests of the community, the bypass route would be far superior to the present location.

Tending to ease the debate were suggestions of compromise plans and assurance that the city Chamber of Commerce feels it has a plan that will "smooth over feelings no matter which way the decision goes."

A Chamber spokesman said the civic body would not issue a statement on the controversy, at least until after its next meeting, but added:

"WE FEEL the public should know—before this matter gets to be too hot—that the Chamber has a plan which may help satisfy whichever faction loses out on the relocation decision."

"We would only complicate discussion by outlining our proposal at this time, but we want to stress that many important facts and possibilities have yet to come to the surface."

"It is almost certain everybody isn't going to be satisfied when the issue is decided, but looking at the whole good of the community we feel sure our plan will take most or all of the rough spots out of the problem—when it's finally decided whether Route 23 is to be moved."

One compromise proposal under wide discussion suggests that Route 23 be kept in its present location and that truck traffic be routed over Route 104 between Columbus and Chillicothe.

The suggestion has stirred a secondary debate on whether such a routing of truck traffic would be legally feasible.

Panic Kills 16

IZMIR, Turkey, Aug. 29.—(P)—A panicky stampede from a tobacco factory fire Thursday killed 16 women workers and severely injured 37 others. About 100 workers were hurt less seriously.

Truman To Speak If It's Convenient

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(P)—President Truman is looking over his ammunition for his first "whistle-stop" tour for the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket.

The outgoing President and his White House staff brushed aside queries as to how many speeches he will make on his Labor Day tour to Milwaukee, but one veteran aide told reporters:

"Any stop where they show us a crowd at a respectable hour, we'll show them the President on the back platform."

City Merchants Queried About DuPont Project

A number of Circleville businessmen and officials were contacted recently by an industrial agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad about available resources in regard to the proposed DuPont plant south of town.

And the agent completed his survey on a favorable note.

Local merchants said the agent contacted them concerning costs of construction, labor problems and housing problems.

The merchants said the report was favorable, that workers would be available and that housing probably could be arranged.

One point reportedly brought up was the necessity of 30 houses in the area for key personnel of the proposed plant.

The survey apparently was asked by DuPont through the railroad in view of the proposed new billion dollar atomic project in Pike County.

Daughter Buried; Killer-Dad Sobs

MIAMI, Aug. 29.—(P)—Eighteen-year-old Adela Moskal was buried Thursday after a life of constant pain. Her father, who had killed her to end her years of suffering, sobbed at her grave.

John Moskal sent his wife on a shopping errand Monday, then led Adela into the bathroom and plunged a butcher knife into her heart. The girl had shown little development since birth.

Firemen Do OK

BATAVIA, N. Y., Aug. 29.—(P)—Mayor Judd L. Perkins turned in a false fire alarm here and got away with it. His reason: to test the speed of firemen and police. They answered the call in 1 1/2 minutes.

Ike And Adlai Both To Talk At Plow Tests

KASSON, Minn., Aug. 29.—(P)—Both Dwight D. Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson are polishing farm policy speeches in preparation for the first time their paths will cross in this presidential campaign.

Both the Republican and Democratic nominees will speak Sept. 6 at the National Plowing Contest to be held near here.

Stevenson's campaign manager, Wilson Wyatt, announced he has accepted the Kasson speaking date, despite an earlier squabble among contest officials over the two presidential candidates appearing the same day.

Eisenhower's talk tentatively has been set for about 1 p. m., EST, with the Stevenson speech at about 4:30 p. m.

Stevenson's acceptance came after a second invitation was issued. He had been turned down by contest sponsors before the second approach was made this week.

Officials of the contest stress that all the political hoopla won't deter them in their efforts to put on an event aimed at improving farming practices.

There will be two divisions to the plow matches—contour on hilly land and level-land. Plowmen from about 15 states have already entered and tractors, plows and other farm machinery have begun to arrive on the scene.

Stevenson Said 'Merely Puppet'

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29.—(P)—Rep. Charles A. Hallack of Indiana, co-chairman of the Republican Speakers Bureau, declared here Thursday:
"President Truman's press conference statement today about tideland oil, and the disclosure this week by Stephen A. Mitchell, Democratic national chairman, that he would see Mr. Truman weekly for item by item advice on campaign problems, leave no doubt that the Democrat nominee (Adlai Stevenson) is merely a puppet—an Ivy League Truman, with a Jake Arvey halo over his head."

Metal Workers Strike A-Plant

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29.—(P)—Some 150 sheetmetal workers of the AFL Building Trades Unions walked off the job Thursday at the Fernwald atomic energy plant construction project.

A union official said the men left their jobs after a jurisdiction dispute with the AFL Millwright Union. Company officials declined comment on the effect the work stoppage would have on construction.

GRAIN FUTURES
CHICAGO, Aug. 29.—(P)—Great Britain, Italy and Spain bought American grains Friday and cereals responded on the Board of Trade by scoring moderate advances.

Brokers thought a good part of the buying came from export houses which were lifting hedges in wheat and corn as they made sales to foreign countries.

Dealings were not very active and some factors worked to keep the advance in check. These included improved crop prospects, renewed easiness in crude soybean oil and notices of intentions to deliver large quantities of wheat and oats on September contracts next Tuesday.

Wheat closed 1 1/4-1 1/2 higher, September $2.30 1/4-3/4, corn 3/4 higher, September 1.77 1/2-3/4, oats 1/2 to 1 cent higher, September 83-83 1/2, rye 3/4 to 2 cents higher, September 1.92 1/2-3/4, soybeans 1/4-1 1/2 higher, September $3.15 1/2-3/4, and lard 15 cents lower to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $10.70-10.75.

Civil Rights Issue Skipped By Sparkman

MENDENHALL, Miss., Aug. 29.—(P)—Sen. John Sparkman skipped the touchy civil rights issue in opening his vice presidential campaign before a Deep South audience Thursday.

The Alabama senator's blanket defense of the Democratic platform was the nearest he came to the subject.

The party platform that has caused strife among many Southern Democrats contains a proposed Fair Employment Practice Commission, anti-lynch and anti-poll tax planks.

"I realize there may be things in the Democratic platform that all of us cannot agree upon," he told an audience estimated at between 3,000 and 5,000 in Mendenhall high school stadium.

"But remember that this party of ours is made up of free people from all walks of life with many divergent beliefs."

Sparkman recently was called "a traitor to the South" for his support of the platform. His critics, dissatisfied Mississippi Democrats, formed a Democrats-for-Eisenhower movement and bolted the regular party.

County Schools Get $78,000 In State Aid

Pickaway County schools have received a total of $78,411.22 in funds under the third quarterly settlement of the state foundation program.

Largest single distribution in the settlement was made to Scioto Township school, which received $9,411.69, while Salt Creek was next with $8,391.01.

Complete list of the county schools and the amounts they received in the settlement is:

Ashville, $7,491.91; Darby, $7,593.29; Deer Creek, $6,442.32; Harrison, $1,803.77; Jackson, $4,586.91; Madison, $947.40; Monroe, $4,193.79; Muhlenberg, $1,014.38; New Holland, $6,387.24; Perry, $4,534.30; Pickaway, $2,640.90; Salt Creek, $8,391.01; Scioto, $9,411.69; Walnut, $7,429.48; Washington, $3,625.92; and Wayne, $1,915.91.

Clyde Huffer Loses License

Clyde Huffer, 66, of Stoutsville, lost his driving privileges for one year when he appeared in Pickaway County common pleas court Friday for drunken driving.

In addition to losing his license for one year, Huffer was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail (suspended).

Huffer was heard on an affidavit presented by Prosecutor Guy Cline before the court of Judge William D. Radcliff.

Ohio Fuel Names Lundstrum Chief

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29.—(P)—Allan W. Lundstrum of Upper Arlington Friday was named president of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co., succeeding William N. Grinstead who died Aug. 2.

Everett D. Bivens, former treasurer and now vice president and general manager of the United Fuel Gas Co., Charleston, W. Va., will succeed Lundstrum as vice president and general manager of Ohio Fuel.

City Man's Son One Of Quartet Killed In Crash

Willard Riley, 35, of Lancaster, son of Mechanic Jess Riley of Circleville, was one of four men killed early Friday in an auto crash near Lancaster.

Other three victims identified by Lancaster police were Warren Creighton, 29; Donald Hoffman, 39; and Andrew Hummel, 33, all of Lancaster.

Riley, operator of the car, earlier had visited his father in Circleville.

Lancaster police said the accident happened when a cruiser gave chase to the auto in which the four men were riding. Police said the auto was speeding, and when the cruiser swung about in the street to attempt overtaking them the auto's lights were switched out.

IN THE attempt to elude arrest, the auto plunged over a 25-foot bank on Route 188 just about 200 feet outside Lancaster at a high rate of speed. The auto was completely demolished.

Riley was born near Five Points. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday in the Lancaster 6th avenue Methodist church with burial in Pickerington. Friends may call in the residence at 520 Garfield avenue after Saturday noon.

Big 4 Agree On Austria Anti-Jew Law

VIENNA, Aug. 29.—(P)—The Big Four powers have unanimously vetoed an Austrian law which would have permitted prewar "aryanizers" to lay their hands for a second time on Jewish property they gained under Hitler.

The rare agreement between Russia and the Western Powers was reached by the executive committee of the four-power Allied Control Council for Austria.

The vetoed law was one of seven recent Austrian statutes which have come under fire from much of the world's press, the U. S. State Department and Jewish leaders.

The four occupation powers approved three other laws aiding certain victims of Nazism but asked the Austrian government to broaden them to include thousands of Nazi victims who no longer hold Austrian citizenship.

Still awaiting Allied action are three other controversial laws granting amnesties and returning property to 34,000 former Austrian Nazis. Jewish leaders have termed these a "reversal to Nazism" and the U. S. State Department said it was "greatly disturbed" by them.

Tydings Calls Joe McCarthy A 'Coward'

BALTIMORE, Aug. 29.—(P)—Mildred E. Tydings, former Democratic senator, Thursday night branded Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) as a "cowardly patriot" and said he may go to Wisconsin to "expose the senator."

It was the latest salvo in the long-standing feud between the Marylander and the GOP senator. Tydings has challenged McCarthy to make good on his charges of Communism in government.

Earlier Thursday McCarthy withdrew an offer to debate with Tydings on the same platform in Wisconsin.

"I wouldn't care to waste time debating with the dead," McCarthy was quoted.

Tydings retorted:
"Think of a man who one day invites me to come into his state, and when I accept and want to meet him there face to face he scurries like a scared rabbit."

"Now you've got the true picture of McCarthy, the spurious 'fighting Marine' who never fought, the cowardly patriot who won't defend his public statement."

McCarthy now stands before the people of his state and the people of the nation for exactly what he is—a cringing, hit-run, despicable political and moral coward."

McCarthy is running for reelection this year.

Sen. Lodge Raps Stevenson Stand

NEW YORK, Aug. 29.—(P)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., (R-Mass.), adviser to GOP presidential candidate Dwight Eisenhower, has denounced as a "pious, insincere piece of double talk" Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson's statement Thursday night against congressional filibusters.

The Democratic presidential nominee said "the sound of tireless voices is the price we pay for the right to hear the music of our own opinions. But there is also a moment at which Democracy must prove its capacity to act. Every man has a right to be heard, but no man has the right to strangle democracy with a single set of vocal chords."

District Boys Join Fair's High Ranks

Boys from Mt. Sterling and Ashville have joined their 4-H contestants who ranked high in livestock competition at the 1952 Ohio State Fair.

Junior Winfield, 15, of Mt. Sterling Route 3, placed first among approximately 30 entries with his Ayrshire heifer.

Joe Caldwell, 11, of Ashville Route 2, placed fourth in his class with an Angus steer.

Man Against the Sea

One-Man Crew Tackles Pacific Again

John Caldwell checks the ocean track on one of his Pacific charts with the aid of two "crew members"—Mrs. Caldwell and Johnny, Jr., age 5.

By FREDERICK ALLAN
Central Press Correspondent

AVALON, Calif.—John Caldwell, 31, fought the temper of the sea six years ago and lost a decision. However, now he's fighting a second bout and he's sure of victory this time.

As he sailed aboard his ketch, the Tropic Seas, bound for Australia, he recounted the hazards of an 8,500-mile voyage to the continent "down under" in May, 1946, in a little cutter, the Pagan, which was laughed at because it was so fragile.

Caldwell's difficult voyage began at Balboa, Panama, and his destination was Brisbane, Australia, where Caldwell wanted to join his wife, Mary, an Australian. He had been separated from Mary after a two-year tour on a freighter.

AFTER various experiences, Caldwell finally bought the 29-foot Pagan and prepared to shove off. He stored canned food and water on the cutter and quietly sailed for the open sea. One of the most important books which he took along was titled, How to Sail Small Boats.

Somewhat he hoisted the Pagan's sails and Caldwell ran into trouble. He hit a storm and howling winds drove the cutter off the Perlas islands. He was not entirely alone, for he was accompanied by two kittens, Flotsam and Jetsam.

Caldwell then left for the Galapagos, with sharks pestering him all the way, and he hung a yellow-jack fish on a hook.

Prospecting For Oil, Minerals By Air Is Exciting Occupation

By DAVID A. HELLER

Gone are the days when hard-bitten sourdoughs like the legendary Death Valley Scotty carry America's hopes for the discovery of new minerals and oil.

Scotty and his mule are being put out of business by the air plane and a brand-new gadget called the airborne magnetometer which can cover more ground in a day than Scotty could in months.

What's more, the aerial prospectors can probe for hidden oil and minerals far beneath the earth's surface with great accuracy.

The story of the airborne magnetometer is a Twentieth Century saga combining science and adventure, with such things as head-hunters, enemy submarines and the world's most dangerous flying thrown in.

The magnetometer, almost identical in size and shape with an ordinary cigaret, is really an extremely sensitive magnet. Developed as an anti-submarine weapon during isters on a chart from which the exact location of the deposit can be found. The big advantage prospecting by air has is that mountains, lakes and other barriers can easily be overcome.

For example, 85,000 square miles of ocean floor between Florida and the Bahamas was recently prospected for oil with the use of the "bird." It cost five oil companies a cool million dollars to conduct the survey.

By use of the ultra-sensitive magnet, minerals like iron and gold can be definitely located. Prospecting for oil is not quite as certain, but the magnet can reveal promising formations and, equally important, can show where it would be impossible for oil to be.

The airborne magnetometer has been in use since 1943. It was developed by the Gulf Oil company at the cost of millions of dollars and turned over to the Navy as an anti-submarine weapon when World War II came along.

It played a big role in keeping the Mediterranean sea an Allied lake in World War II. Prior to its use, German submarines had an effective trick for getting through the Straits of Gibraltar from the Atlantic to the Mediterranean to play hob with our shipping.

THEY SIMPLY turned off their motors and drifted through with the tide. Since our only anti-submarine weapons at that time depended on sound waves from the sub's motors to locate it, we had no effective way of stopping the enemy U-boats.

Then came the airborne magnetometer. Our scout planes would fly low above the water, trail the "bird" behind, and any large body of metal in the water could be located. When the "bird" passed over the metal of the U-boat, it would send up a signal. The plane would promptly release a depth charge. The magnetometer is an instrument of many talents.

An interesting example of its use was the locating of many steel structural forms lost in Chesapeake bay during a hurricane. One of the largest bridges in the world now spans the bay, but in November of 1950 a storm sank a barge loaded with highly-expensive, specially-made steel forms for the bridge.

It would have taken months to replace them, and because of the demands of war, steel was precious. The airborne magnetometer located the sunken barge and divers promptly raised the precious trusses.

Aerial magnetometer flying is the most precise and hazardous in the world. The plane must be flown perfectly straight despite crosswinds, and it must go low (500 feet) and slow (145 mph).

Magnetometer Pilot Frank McWilliams, who has flown his special DC-3 on four continents prospecting for minerals, sometimes passing over headhunter territory and flushing up herds of wild elephants and similar critters, puts it this way:

"It's really dangerous. Take a survey we recently did near Johannesburg, South Africa, looking for a lost vein of gold. We had to fly at a constant 500-foot altitude. We were crossing high mountains and deep valleys. Sometimes we'd fly 3,000 feet straight up to get over a mountain and then we'd dive 3,000 feet straight down on the other side of it."

"All the time we had to fly perfectly straight and a constant 500 feet above the ground."

The mammoth, now extinct, is believed to be the only elephant type which adapted itself to cold climates.

COFFINS SUGGEST Traffic Slogan

UTICA, N. Y.—Miss Ruth Rollband thinks the traffic death-rate would be slowed down if the city would display wooden coffins in conspicuous places along main highways with this slogan painted on them: "Don't Rush to Get In."

She got the idea while on a recent motor trip. Immediately after a carload of coffins came down the road in the opposite direction she noticed the cars in front of her got into orderly positions and promptly cut their speed.

In March, 1951, Miss Rollband was the winner of a slogan contest sponsored by the pedestrian safety committee of the Utica Safety Council. Her slogan, "A Careless Step Is a Grave Matter," was painted on the pavement at several downtown intersections.

POLIO PROGRESS

was generated last Spring by announcement that a blood injection might prove effective in preventing the polio virus from attacking the nerves and causing paralysis. The discovery seemed to open a road to prevention of polio by inoculation.

Extensive experiments with inoculation were made at Houston and Sioux City. Its effectiveness is still to be determined. Meanwhile polio continues on its crippling course.

At the peak of this year's polio season, the United States is suffering one of its worst epidemics. More than 2,000 cases weekly have been reported in the last month. Total number of cases for the disease year beginning last March now have passed the 12,000 mark, or twice as many as for the comparable period last year. New cases reported usually decline in September.

Science believes it is on the right track with its inoculation experiments, that improvements on the method will finally prevent paralysis and that laboratory techniques will provide plenty of the immunizing agent for all purposes at reasonable prices.

If expectations are realized, another grave threat to human health will have been conquered.

"ESCAPIST" CAPITAL

LAST YEAR $4 BILLION left "capitalist" America for Canada for investment. Additional millions went to Latin America. Puerto Rico is regarded favorably by U.S. capital because it has no income or excess profits taxes.

To escape confiscatory taxation some wise money is going to a British island in the West Indies where there is no income tax. When more money is made, it is transferred to another island where there is no inheritance tax.

It is becoming common practice for successful industry in the United States to buy a failing business so the loss can be charged off against income tax. Other businesses become suddenly prosperous and get into so high a bracket they lack the cash to pay taxes. Small business is reluctant to expand operations, fearing taxes will wreck it. Enterprise is losing its lure.

George R. Sokolsky's

These Days

In the Aesopian language universally adopted by Marxists, good words are employed to describe wicked deeds. Those who are moved by the words attach themselves to the wickedness, often unwittingly.

Thus, throughout the period that Stalin has been conducting a cold war in Europe and a hot war in Korea, his vast propaganda machine has been advocating peace, has been accusing the United States of favoring war. Yet, the fact is that since 1945, Soviet Russia has been steadily and ceaselessly conducting a war against the United States.

When actual war can be called peace, the world is topsy-turvy and words have lost their meaning. Yet, there are American men and women who believe anything that comes out of Moscow.

Louis Budenz is an ex-Communist who has devoted himself valiantly to undoing the wrong that his services to Stalin had done to this country. I want to make the point that were it not for ex-Communists and ex-Fellow Travellers, the fight against Communism would have been lost in the United States. Budenz, Bentley, Kornfeder, Chambers, Gitlow, Lovestone, Lyons, Matthews, and so many others like them, provided the essential data for this fight. Without them, it would not have been available.

Unfortunately, many of the most eager battlers in the anti-Communist cause do not know what they are talking about. They have been unwilling to read the hundreds of volumes of Marxist literature; they have failed to study the history of this movement since 1848 in every country on earth; they do not even grasp the nature of a universal revolutionary conspiracy. They often accuse those whom they should support and cultivate because they do not understand the characteristics of conversion. They often take to their hearts known Communist agents because their own stereotypes of Marxists preclude their believing that anyone who is so nice can be one.

That is why Louis Budenz's books and testimony are so valuable. He has, with fanatical frigidity, devoted himself to as objective a statement of the case as is humanly possible. He is a propagandist in a good cause who seeks to convince by accuracy.

His most recent book is "The Cry Is Peace," in which he exposes the Stalinoid effort to wage war against us by new and unorthodox techniques, particularly by Trojan Horse methods, by shouting "Peace!"

A friend once said to me that the American people know all about Marxism and Communism and that one does not need to write about it anymore. Actually, there is no evidence to uphold such a view. With every change of the Russian technique, it is necessary to start all over again. The Peace Campaign is an index to their propagandistic cleverness. What American does not favor Peace? Then, by Soviet logic, they should all favor Stalin—the lover of peace!

DIET AND HEALTH

Treatment For Ruptured Disk

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HARDLY any disorder can cause more severe and disabling pain than a ruptured intervertebral disk. These disks are made up of a jelly-like substance and lie between the separate bones which make up the spine. After an injury, this jelly-like substance may protrude from between the bones, pressing on the nerves of the back and causing pain.

Disks may rupture in two locations—the neck or the low back. Ruptures in the neck region are rare, while those of the low back are most common. The severe pain usually travels down the back of the leg, sometimes as far as the heel. The pain is excruciating, and is usually increased by coughing or any movement.

A ruptured disk pressing on a nerve may produce permanent weakness, paralysis, or loss of sensation in the part of the body served by that nerve.

Bed Rest Prescribed

Usually the best treatment for a misplaced disk is rest in bed, with a board between the mattress and bed spring. Sometimes the patient has to be put into traction—that is, constant stretching of the leg muscles—for a few days to several weeks. This relieves the pressure on the nerves. Drugs to relieve spasms are used with great success along with this treatment.

In the few cases that may not respond to this type of treatment, it may be necessary to perform

Manipulations Not Helpful

Until a short time ago, it was believed that manipulations of the lower back might help to return the ruptured disk into place. However, there was some doubt about this procedure, so a group of patients were carefully studied before and after spinal manipulations. It was found and definitely proved by X-ray tests that these patients did not improve following manipulations, and a number even had worse symptoms than before.

It is now believed that manipulation of the back for ruptured disk can cause further nerve damage. Therefore, many doctors avoid this treatment in patients suffering from symptoms that may be due to a disk rupture.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

R. E. G.: How can I prevent my baby from getting prickly heat this summer?

Answer: Prickly heat is due to excessive perspiration caused by hot weather and, in most instances, occurs only on the covered surfaces of the body. During the hot weather, the baby should be kept as cool as possible, and excessive amounts of clothing avoided. The skin should be sponged off two or three times a day with cool water.

If an eruption occurs, a dilute solution of aluminum acetate may be put on it. Cornstarch is also useful.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — A Stevenson decision which may alienate conservative Democrats in several politically important sections of the country, especially in the East, Middle West and South, has escaped the consideration it deserves, although it has become a matter of deep concern at Springfield, Ill.

It is the Democratic nominee's selection of Oscar Chapman of Denver as a member of his 11-man, personal campaign committee. The Secretary of the Interior is the only member of the Truman Cabinet to be so honored. Chapman's friends regard it as a sign that he may be retained in his present post, if the Democrats win next November.

CONTROL—The conservatives' chagrin over Chapman's key role derives from their knowledge that he is the only Cabinet member who subscribes 100 per cent to the more extreme implications of the "Truman fair deal," as he did to Franklin D. Roosevelt's "new deal." A protégé of the late Harold L. Ickes, Chapman believes with Truman in almost unlimited government control in many fields, social and economic. It was on Truman's suggestion that Stevenson chose Chapman.

He advocates such federal expansion of public power that, in the opinion of opponents, it would mean either competitive destruction of the private utilities' $25,000,000,000 investment, or their absorption by the government at near-confiscatory prices. Although his efforts along this line have been rebuffed by the courts and Congress, he refuses to abandon them.

PHILOSOPHY—Once, in commenting on a Supreme Court decision favoring his claim to broad jurisdiction over natural resources, Chapman declared that the court had pointed the way to federal intervention in every industrial field. It was this opinion which led Truman, several years ago, to threaten to build steel plants, if private companies did not expand capacity.

In fact, it was this Truman-Chapman philosophy which inspired the President to contend that he possessed "inherent powers" to seize the steel industry during the recent strike. Both Ickes and Chapman, as fuel czars exercised this power over the coal mines on several occasions, also using their authority to raise wages during the period of government occupation.

Chapman is a "big government" advocate, which Stevenson says he is not.

NON-SEGREGATION — In accord with his theory of government control of natural resources, Chapman spearheads the Administration movement for federal ownership of oil tide lands, a sensitive subject in California, Texas and Louisiana. Although Stevenson wants a settlement satisfactory to all claimants, Chapman is a "no compromise" man on this subject.

Although born in Virginia, the Secretary of the Interior is the leader of the anti-segregation drive in the District of Columbia. He aims to make the nation's capital a model for similar lifting of racial restrictions throughout the country. He insists on non-segregation in Washington's parks, playgrounds, swimming pools, schools, fire department, etc.

CONSULTANT — He has currently involved Stevenson in this controversy. Against considerable opposition, he has named Dr. Joseph D. Lohman of Chicago as head of the new National Capital Planning Commission. Lohman has served as Stevenson's adviser on racial relations.

The appointment has stirred protests because, as Chapman's racial consultant several years ago, Lohman accused Washington business men of "promoting segregation for business purposes." When his recommendations led to minor riots at several swimming pools, he conducted a course for instructing Interior's park police on how to handle such outbreaks.

He gave Washington a miserable summer without improving relations between the races. His return is not welcomed by numerous civic groups.

REWARD — Prominent Democrats are now buzzing Springfield to ascertain just what role Chapman will play in the Stevenson entourage. They realize — and hope — that he may have been chosen merely for his ability to serve as a political guide through the West, not as an adviser on power, tidelands, the California-Arizona water rights dispute (he favors Arizona,) or racial relations.

In 1948, Chapman acted as Tru-

By Ray Tucker

man's advance man in this area.

He contacted local political leaders, mobilized public power and rural electrification groups, arranged for rallies and advised on local conditions. He did such a good job that he was appointed to his present post as a reward.

In recognition of his vote-promotion success, Truman has also given Chapman full support on the controversial issues involving Interior — namely, expansion of public power on a nationwide basis, full government control of tidelands and other natural resources, and racial problems. Oscar is now Harry's fair-haired boy.

CHAMPION — Nevertheless, there is no doubt that Chapman's presence in the inner circle will attract votes.

He is the idol of social welfare elements because of his advocacy of national health insurance, federal housing, generous aid to education, etc. He is the champion of the colored race and other minorities at Washington. He fights the battles of federal power enthusiasts—such "preference customers" as co-ops, rural electrification enterprises, municipalized plants, public power districts, etc.

In short, if Stevenson can use Chapman to hold these elements of the electorate while he himself remains noncommittal lest he antagonize conservatives on such questions as private investment and initiative, FEPC and segregation and general government interference with industry, it will be the most skillful political tight-rope act of the century.

A lone diner on the Santa Fe Chief was handed a check for three dollars and ninety cents, and gave the waiter a five-dollar bill. The waiter put a dollar and a dime on the silver tray. The diner wrestled with the problem, then grunted angrily, and abruptly stuffed the dollar into his pocket. To his surprise, the waiter grinned broadly. "That's quite all right, sir," he said. "I just gambled and lost."

Jock McGregor made the front page again. He refused a raise in his pay of thirty dollars a week because he was afraid that if illness forced him to take a day off, he'd lose too much money.

AT LAST Paul and Blaise moved into the front room. Wait helping his mother do the final chores.

"Paul, who got that land you were homesteading over in the Valley?" Blaise asked.

"Went open to claim again, I reckon, after I didn't prove up. It happened to all of us."

"Mark, too?"

"Sure, him with the rest so far as I know. But we proved up over here and done fine."

"What about Mark . . . and Melanie?" Blaise asked suddenly. Paul shifted uncomfortably and a stubborn line came to his jaw, then melted away.

"They're doing pretty good, I reckon. Mark's always broke, he says, though he's got one of the best farms around here. But he's always riding off, leaving Mel alone. She—"

He stopped and glanced toward the door, hearing the distant clink of dishes. "I ain't supposed to let on to no one, least of all you. But she ain't happy, Blaise, despite all Mark's done. She spends most of her time over here, and she don't talk much about Mark. That ain't natural in a woman. She's hiding something."

"What?" Blaise asked sharply. Paul sighed and shrugged.

"Maybe that Mark don't treat her good, or maybe that she knows she made a mistake. I reckon Maw and me are as much to blame as she, if the marriage ain't right. But it wasn't right a girl so young should wait for a man who'd never come back. You admit that, Blaise."

"I admit it," Blaise nodded. "But about Mark?"

"There's nothing I can say that I really know for certain. He's always gone, seems like . . . riding off, selling crops, making dickers. Mel's alone a lot. He's gone now."

"Where?"

"Said something about Simi. Left yesterday and ain't come back yet."

It was close to eight the next morning when Blaise rode into the Davis yard, dismounted and knocked on the kitchen door. It opened and Melanie stared at him in surprise, pleasure lighting her eyes and her smile widening.

"Blaise! Come in." She threw the door wide. "I've had breakfast but there's always food for more."

"Your Maw fed me well. But coffee would be good."

"You didn't come over?" she asked, frowning, the light cotton dress revealing her full figure as she moved from table to stove.

"I wanted to," Blaise said. "But they'd come along."

She misread his meaning, stopping short at the stove and looking at him, her blue eyes soft, yet troubled. She came to the table and sat down across from him.

"I thought after you learned I'd married Mark, you'd hate me."

"No, I don't hate you, Mel. But I—"

"I've hated myself, Blaise! From the moment you returned I knew I'd made a horrible mistake. I think I knew it long before you came back, but I tried to make the best of a bad bargain."

"But Mark—"

"He doesn't love me, Blaise. He's always wanted the best land, the best horse, the best house in the district. He wanted the prettiest girl, and he got her. That's all that mattered. He loves himself, first and always. He isn't at all like you, Blaise."

"Mel, I—you're married to him. That makes a difference," Blaise tried to explain. She nodded slowly and her eyes misted.

"I know, Blaise. I should've waited for you. But the folks were against it. Mark acted like a perfect lover. I just gave in. I found out later just how important I was to him. He loves himself first, then money, and he schemes and plans for it all the time. He's secretive, like a miser or a man afraid for the world to know him. Oh, Blaise, can't we do something?"

"I don't know what it would be, Mel. You see, I've found—"

"We could ride away, Blaise. We could be gone before anyone knew. We could go to Los Angeles, beyond Buena Vista. Anything, Blaise, anywhere!"

Blaise rubbed his hand over his eyes and arose from the table, pacing to the door and back. Melanie watched him, eyes wide and eager. She stood up, swinging around the chair, holding onto the back as she leaned forward toward Blaise. She was earnest and beautiful.

"I'll show you, Blaise, about Mark. Come here."

She turned and disappeared into the door wide.

POLIO PROGRESS

CONSIDERABLE OPTIMISM was generated last Spring by announcement that a blood injection might prove effective in preventing the polio virus from attacking the nerves and causing paralysis. The discovery seemed to open a road to prevention of polio by inoculation.

Extensive experiments with inoculation were made at Houston and Sioux City. Its effectiveness is still to be determined. Meanwhile polio continues on its crippling course.

At the peak of this year's polio season, the United States is suffering one of its worst epidemics. More than 2,000 cases weekly have been reported in the last month. Total number of cases for the disease year beginning last March now have passed the 12,000 mark, or twice as many as for the comparable period last year. New cases reported usually decline in September.

Science believes it is on the right track with its inoculation experiments, that improvements on the method will finally prevent paralysis and that laboratory techniques will provide plenty of the immunizing agent for all purposes at reasonable prices.

If expectations are realized, another grave threat to human health will have been conquered.

"ESCAPIST" CAPITAL

LAST YEAR $4 BILLION left "capitalist" America for Canada for investment. Additional millions went to Latin America. Puerto Rico is regarded favorably by U.S. capital because it has no income or excess profits taxes.

To escape confiscatory taxation some wise money is going to a British island in the West Indies where there is no income tax. When more money is made, it is transferred to another island where there is no inheritance tax.

It is becoming common practice for successful industry in the United States to buy a failing business so the loss can be charged off against income tax. Other businesses become suddenly prosperous and get into a high tax bracket they lack the cash to pay taxes. Small business is reluctant to expand operations, fearing taxes will wreck it. Enterprise is losing its lure.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

In the Aesopian language universally adopted by Marxists, good words are employed to describe wicked deeds. Those who are moved by the words attach themselves to the wickedness, often unwittingly.

Thus, throughout the period that Stalin has been conducting a cold war in Europe and a hot war in Korea, his vast propaganda machine has been advocating peace, has been accusing the United States of favoring war. Yet, the fact is that since 1945, Soviet Russia has been steadily and ceaselessly conducting a war against the United States.

When actual war can be called peace, the world is topsy-turvy and words have lost their meaning. Yet, there are American men and women who believe anything that comes out of Moscow.

Louis Budenz is an ex-Communist who has devoted himself valiantly to undoing the wrong that his services to Stalin had done to this country. I want to make the point that were it not for ex-Communists and ex-Fellow Travelers, the fight against Communism would have been lost in the United States. Budenz, Bentley, Kornfeder, Chambers, Gitlow, Lovestone, Lyons, Matthews, and so many others like them, provided the essential data for this fight. Without them, it would not have been available.

Unfortunately, many of the most eager battlers in the anti-Communist cause do not know what they are talking about. They have been unwilling to read the hundreds of volumes of Marxist literature; they have failed to study the history of this movement since 1848 in every country on earth; they do not even grasp the nature of an universal revolutionary conspiracy. They often accuse those whom they should support and cultivate because they do not understand the characteristics of conversion. They often take to their hearts known Communist agents because their own stereotypes of Marxists preclude their believing that anyone who is so nice can be one.

That is why Louis Budenz's books and testimony are so valuable. He has, with fanatical frigidity, devoted himself to as objective a statement of the case as is humanly possible. He is a propagandist in a good cause who seeks to convince by accuracy.

His most recent book is "The Cry Is Peace," in which he exposes the Stalinoid effort to wage war against us by new and unorthodox techniques, particularly by Trojan Horse methods, by shouting "Peace!"

A friend once said to me that the American people know all about Marxism and Communism and that one does not need to write about it anymore. Actually, there is no evidence to uphold such a view. With every change of the Russian technique, it is necessary to start all over again. The Peace Campaign is an index to their propagandistic cleverness. What American does not favor Peace? Then, by Soviet logic, they should all favor Stalin—the lover of peace!

DIET AND HEALTH

Treatment For Ruptured Disk

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

HARDLY any disorder can cause more severe and disabling pain than a ruptured intervertebral disk. These disks are made up of a jelly-like substance and lie between the separate bones which make up the spine. After an injury, this jelly-like substance may protrude from between the bones, pressing on the nerves of the back and causing pain.

Disks may rupture in two locations—the neck or the low back. Ruptures in the neck region are rare, while those of the low back are most common. The severe pain usually travels down the back of the leg, sometimes as far as the heel. The pain is excruciating, and is usually increased by coughing or any movement.

A ruptured disk pressing on a nerve may produce permanent weakness, paralysis, or loss of sensation in the part of the body served by that nerve.

Bed Rest Prescribed

Usually the best treatment for a misplaced disk is rest in bed, with a board between the mattress and bed spring. Sometimes the patient has to be put into traction—that is, constant stretching of the leg muscles—for a few days to several weeks. This relieves the pressure on the nerves. Drugs to relieve spasms are used with great success along with this treatment.

In the few cases that may not respond to this type of treatment, it may be necessary to perform an operation to relieve the pressure on the nerves.

Manipulations Not Helpful

Until a short time ago, it was believed that manipulations of the lower back might help to return the ruptured disk into place. However, there was some doubt about this procedure, so a group of patients were carefully studied before and after spinal manipulations. It was found and definitely proved by X-ray tests that these patients did not improve following manipulations, and a number even had worse symptoms than before.

It is now believed that manipulation of the back for ruptured disk can cause further nerve damage. Therefore, many doctors avoid this treatment in patients suffering from symptoms that may be due to a disk rupture.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — A Stevenson decision which may alienate conservative Democrats in several politically important sections of the country, especially in the East, Middle West and South, has escaped the consideration it deserves, although it has become a matter of deep concern at Springfield, Ill.

It is the Democratic nominee's selection of Oscar Chapman of Denver as a member of his 11-man, personal campaign committee. The Secretary of the Interior is the only member of the Truman Cabinet to be so honored. Chapman's friends regard it as a sign that he may be retained in his present post, if the Democrats win next November.

CONTROL—The conservatives' champion over Chapman's key role derives from their knowledge that he is the only Cabinet member who subscribes 100 per cent to the more extreme implications of the "Truman fair deal," as he did to Franklin D. Roosevelt's "new deal." A protégé of the late Harold L. Ickes, Chapman believes with Truman in almost unlimited government control in many fields, social and economic. It was on Truman's suggestion that Stevenson chose Chapman.

He advocates such federal expansion of public power that, in the opinion of opponents, it would mean either competitive destruction of the private utilities' $25,000,000,000 investment, or their absorption by the government at near-confiscatory prices. Although his efforts along this line have been rebuffed by the courts and Congress, he refuses to abandon them.

PHILOSOPHY—Once, in commenting on a Supreme Court decision favoring his claim to broad jurisdiction over natural resources, Chapman declared that the court had pointed the way to federal intervention in every industrial field. It was this opinion which led Truman, several years ago, to threaten to build steel plants, if private companies did not expand capacity.

In fact, it was this Truman-Chapman philosophy which inspired the President to contend that he possessed "inherent powers" to seize the steel industry during the recent strike. Both Ickes and Chapman, as fuel czars exercised this power over the coal mines on several occasions, also using their authority to raise wages during the period of government occupation.

Chapman is a "big government" advocate, which Stevenson says he is not.

NON-SEGREGATION — In accord with his theory of government control of natural resources, Chapman spearheads the Administration movement for federal ownership of oil fields, a sensitive subject in California, Texas and Louisiana. Although Stevenson wants a settlement satisfactory to all claimants, Chapman is a "no compromise" man on this subject.

Although born in Virginia, the Secretary of the Interior is the leader of the anti-segregation drive in the District of Columbia. He aims to make the nation's capital a model for similar lifting of racial restrictions throughout the country. He insists on non-segregation in Washington's parks, playgrounds, swimming pools, schools, fire department, etc.

CONSULTANT — He has currently involved Stevenson in this controversy. Against considerable opposition, he has named Dr. Joseph D. Lohman of Chicago as head of the new National Capital Planning Commission. Lohman has served as Stevenson's adviser on racial relations.

The appointment has stirred protests because, as Chapman's racial consultant several years ago, Lohman accused Washington business men of "promoting segregation for business purposes." When his recommendations led to minor riots at several swimming pools, he conducted a course for instructing Interior's park police on how to handle such outbreaks.

He gave Washington a miserable summer without improving relations between the races. His return is not welcomed by numerous civic groups.

REWARD — Prominent Democrats are now buzzing Springfield to ascertain just what role Chapman will play in the Stevenson entourage. They realize — and hope — that he may have been chosen merely for his ability to serve as a political guide through the West, not as an adviser on power, tidelands, the California-Arizona water rights dispute (he favors Arizona,) or racial relations.

In 1948, Chapman acted as Truman's advance man in this area. He contacted local political leaders, mobilized public power and rural electrification groups, arranged for rallies and advised on local conditions. He did such a good job that he was appointed to his present post as a reward.

In recognition of his vote-provision success, Truman has also given Chapman full support on the controversial issues involving Interior — namely, expansion of public power on a nationwide basis, full government control of tidelands and other natural resources, and racial problems. Oscar is now Harry's fair-haired boy.

CHAMPION — Nevertheless, there is no doubt that Chapman's presence in the inner circle will attract votes.

He is the idol of social welfare elements because of his advocacy of national health insurance, federal housing, generous aid to education, etc. He is the champion of the colored race and other minorities at Washington. He fights the battles of federal power enthusiasts—such as "preference customers" as co-ops, rural electrification enterprises, municipalized plants, public power districts, etc.

In short, if Stevenson can use Chapman to hold these elements of the electorate while he himself remains noncommittal lest he antagonize noncommittals on such questions as private investment and initiative, FEPC and segregation and general government interference with industry, it will be the most skillful political tight-rope act of the century.

In 1948, Chapman acted as Tru-

BPW Club Members Have Meeting At Pickaway Arms

Members Tell Of Their Work

Thirty members of the Business and Professional Women's Club met Thursday evening in the Pickaway Arms for their regular meeting. A dessert course was served before the meeting to the members and one guest, Mrs. Charles Hilly.

President, Miss Wilmina Piebus, opened the meeting and Mrs. Guy Campbell asked for volunteers to telephone blood donors. The committee will be composed of Mrs. Jeanne Moore, Mrs. Louis Mebs, Mrs. Ray Reid, Miss Ann Gordon and Miss Piebus.

A report was given by Mrs. Irma Stevenson and Miss Piebus on the recent meetings of the civic clubs, on the Constitutional Convention, which will be on the November ballot. It was announced that a speaker would be secured to explain the subject.

Mrs. Richard Jones presented an unusual program entitled, "Members and Their Jobs." Four club members spoke briefly on their work.

"Little Red School House," was the title of the talk given by Miss Peggy Parks, local teacher. She said that she was inspired to teach when she was a child and that the reason she chose teaching as a profession was that she wanted to be an independent woman and liked to work with children. She stated also that a teacher learns as she teaches. She has taught for 32 years.

Miss Minnie Palm was the next speaker and her topic was, "Clothesline." Miss Palm, who is manager of a local ladies ready-to-wear store, has worked many years in this type of work and she related the changes which have taken place in the past years.

Mrs. Louis Mebs, owner of a restaurant, told of her experiences in starting her business 20 years ago with a capital of $150 and building it to its present size. Mrs. Mebs stated that cooperation and kindness to her employees has been a large factor in her success.

Mrs. George Green concluded the program by speaking of her work as a buyer for infants wear and furniture for the past 11 years.

She spoke of her experiences on her buying trips, and of changes during the past years in her line of work.

The next meeting, place and time of which will be announced later, will be Sept. 25 with Mrs. Rose Rader, public affairs chairman, in charge.

Johnson-Sowards Rites Are Read

Miss Eula Mae Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Johnson, of Atlanta, and Airman First Class Forrest Wendell Sowards, son of Mrs. Grace Sowards, of Williamsport, were united in marriage, Saturday, August 16, at Richmond, Indiana.

The Rev. Franklin Parker, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, at Richmond, officiated at the ceremony.

Accompanying the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Irvin and Don Sowards.

The new Mrs. Sowards attended Atlanta high school. Mr. Sowards attended Williamsport high school and recently returned from more than two years in service in Korea and Japan.

They will reside with the groom's mother until he reports at Smyrna, Tennessee, in a few weeks.

Harris-Wright Marriage Read In Wright Home

At an informal ceremony read Aug. 17 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright of Williamsport, their son, Joseph L. Wright and Miss Nellie Harris, daughter of Clinton Harris of Frankfort, were married.

The Rev. Clarence Swearingen read the ceremony at 4:30 p. m. The bride wore a navy blue suit, a small white lace hat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of red rosebuds.

Attending the couple were the bridegroom's sister Mrs. William Keller, as matron of honor, and Warren Wright, who served his brother as best man.

Mrs. Keller wore a brown gabardine suit with tan accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home for members of the immediate families.

The couple left for their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, and upon their return will reside temporarily with the bridegroom's parents.

The new Mrs. Wright is a graduate of Frankfort high school and Mr. Wright, who graduated from Williamsport high school, is associated with Wright Lumber Yard in Williamsport.

Reception Honors Newly Wed Couple

A reception was held on the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Neff, Williamsport Route 1, Tuesday evening, honoring Mr. and Mrs. John Riddle, who recently returned from their wedding trip in the East.

Mrs. Riddle, the former Betty Neff Kenney and Mr. Riddle, were married in the Central Methodist church, Richmond, Ind., at 8:30 p. m., Aug. 12, by the Rev. Warren Saunders.

They were attended by the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Neff.

Mr. and Mrs. Riddle are making their home in Mt. Sterling.

Ridge School Reunion Held

In May, 1892, when the members of the Ridge School District met for a basket dinner on the last day of school, it was decided to hold a reunion every five years.

The first reunion was held Aug. 13, 1892 and a reunion has been held every five years for the past sixty years. The late E. A. Brown, who was the teacher, later became Probate Judge of Pickaway County.

The 13th annual reunion was held recently at the Cedar Hill Community Hall with about 200 former students and teachers present. A basket dinner was served and a program presented.

The school was closed in May, 1923 when the district became a part of Walnut Township District, however the old building still stands, now being used as a residence.

Officers elected at the recent meeting were Mrs. Nora Bowers DeLong, president; Mrs. Gertie Matz Marion, secretary; Mrs. Florene Barr Solt, treasurer and Mrs. Ruth Barr Archer, corresponding secretary.

All of the officers were former students of the school and the first three officers were students at the time the original organization was formed.

Coming Programs Outlined By Circleville Art League

Members of the Circleville Art League met Thursday evening in the studio with the president, Mrs. Edwin Bach Jr., in charge of the business meeting.

It was decided during the meeting that a committee of two will be appointed each month to present programs on various phases of art. Committees and plans for the next three months were named.

On Sept. 11 and Sept. 25, Mrs. W. W. Robinson and H. E. Montelius will have charge of discussions and painting and drawing sessions on landscapes. Drawing equipment will be available for those who need it. Each member may work in any medium.

In October a critique will be held with each member contributing a picture for discussion. This meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Roger May and Mrs. Henry Schroeder.

Plans were also discussed for the art exhibit to be held in the Pickaway County Court House during Pumpkin Show. Members of the Chillicothe Art League will display pictures with the local league.

During the November meetings still life arrangements of Fall items and dried materials will be featured, and meetings will consist of arrangement instruction and painting sessions. These meetings will be directed by Mrs. Lawrence Goeller Jr., and Miss Ruth Montelius.

It was announced that each member should submit the number and names of pictures to be shown in the Pumpkin Show exhibit by Oct. 9. The entire membership will assist with exhibit arrangements.

Coming Programs Outlined By Circleville Art League

Members of the Circleville Art League met Thursday evening in the studio with the president, Mrs. Edwin Bach Jr., in charge of the business meeting.

It was decided during the meeting that a committee of two will be appointed each month to present programs on various phases of art. Committees and plans for the next three months were named.

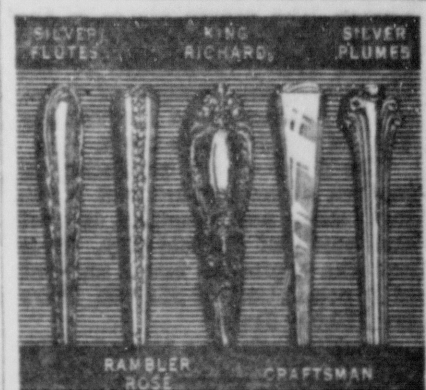

On Sept. 11 and Sept. 25, Mrs. W. W. Robinson and H. E. Montelius will have charge of discussions and painting and drawing sessions on landscapes. Drawing equipment will be available for those who need it. Each member may work in any medium.

In October a critique will be held with each member contributing a picture for discussion. This meeting will be in charge of Mrs. Roger May and Mrs. Henry Schroeder.

Plans were also discussed for the art exhibit to be held in the Pickaway County Court House during Pumpkin Show. Members of the Chillicothe Art League will display pictures with the local league.

During the November meetings still life arrangements of Fall items and dried materials will be featured, and meetings will consist of arrangement instruction and painting sessions. These meetings will be directed by Mrs. Lawrence Goeller Jr., and Miss Ruth Montelius.

It was announced that each member should submit the number and names of pictures to be shown in the Pumpkin Show exhibit by Oct. 9. The entire membership will assist with exhibit arrangements.

THE REIGN OF DAVID

HE CONQUERED JERUSALEM AND DWELT THEREIN, AND RULED WITH JUSTICE

Scriptures—II Samuel 5:6-25; 8-9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL.
JERUSALEM is now, 3,000 years after the events of this lesson, one of the most interesting cities of the world and still one of the most important. The old city, which is called the Walled City, the city of Solomon, David and our Lord, also of the Crusaders, is largely populated by Arabs, and held by the Arab Legion. The sacred places of the three great religions—the Church of the Holy Sepulchre of the Christians, the Mosque of Omar of the Moslems, and the Wailing Wall of the Jews are there.

The new city, consisting of modern schools, apartment buildings, shops and hospitals, is west and north of the old city. It is now the capital of Israel and out of a population of 150,000, there are 120,000 Jews.

David's task was to undertake

The old enemies of the Hebrews, the Philistines, were well aware of David's growing strength and decided once again to try to conquer this upstart people, as they doubtless thought of them David's military victories are next summarized.

David, as always, consulted the will of God, and by His help defeated the Philistines. The Moabite army came next. David had at one time taken refuge with the Moabites and had entrusted his father and mother to the king of Moab. Legend has it that this king put David's parents to death, and that this was the origin of the war against them. David doubtless had strong provocation against them. He subdued the Moabites and they brought tribute to their conqueror.

"David also smote Hadadezer, the son of Rehob, king of Zobah, as he went to recover his border at the river Euphrates," and

MEMORY VERSE

"As for God, His way is perfect: The word of Jehovah is tried; He is a shield unto all them that take refuge in Him."

—II Samuel 22:31.

the organization of the whole 12 tribes and to bring Israel under one sovereign head. He could not do that until Jerusalem was conquered. It was held by the Jebusites, who evidently thought the city was impregnable, so they placed the lame and the blind before it, in derision of this would-be conqueror, and said, "He cannot come into the house."

We are not told, so brief is this episode, just how the place was overcome, but so it was, and David dwelt in the stronghold and called it the City of David.

David had promised the command of the army to the man who would successfully lead the attack, and Joab was the man.

"And David waxed greater and greater; for Jehovah, the God of hosts, was with him."

David had his faults. He was not a perfect man, but he was not wilful, like Saul, and he was always close to Jehovah, and did always as he was commanded.

So David waxed greater and greater, and Hiram, king of Tyre, sent cedar trees and carpenters to him and they built him a house.

Probably the Israelites were not gifted in building. It is refreshing, after so much war and violence, to find this friendly co-operation of two great nations.

New Berger Hospital Head Due To Assume Duties Here Monday

Mrs. Margaret Stevenson Bradbury of Gallipolis will assume her duties Monday as new superintendent of Berger hospital.

Mrs. Bradbury has been employed as superintendent of the hospital to succeed Mrs. Carolyn Dennis, who resigned because of ill health.

The new superintendent has a background of about 30 years of nursing and welfare work to her credit.

Mrs. Stevenson was graduated by the Bethesda Hospital School of Nursing in Zanesville in 1921, and served with the Muskingum County public health department from 1921 until 1923.

Following that, Mrs. Stevenson organized the Gallia County public health department and was engaged in school and welfare nursing.

DURING HER career, Mrs. Bradbury saw major service in supervision and administration of hospitals, and served many hospitals where building programs were underway.

During the depression years, Mrs. Bradbury was in social welfare, family case work and organized the women's division of the WPA in Gallia County and was a supervisor in Meigs County.

In 1949, the new Berger hospital superintendent retired to operate an antique shop in Bellefontaine and in Gallipolis.

Mrs. Bradbury is a member of the Ohio Nurses' Association and the Ohio and National Hospital Association. She was a past president for districts 6 and 14 of the Ohio Nurses' Association.

Her other activities were: member of Gallipolis Presbyterian church, past matron of Gallipolis Order of Eastern Star, past president of the American Legion Auxiliary by post and district, past president of Gallia child welfare board, past president of Gallipolis board of health, trustee of the Emblem Club, trustee of Gallia Red Cross, president of the Gallia County Cancer Society and a member of the DAR.

Mrs. Bradbury is the widow of Poe Bradbury, prominent for his work in the Legion, Elks and Masons, and has two adopted children, Robert Bradbury of Logan and Margaret Bradbury of Quantico, Va.

The new superintendent, in addition to regular hospital duties, also will advise the various hospital guilds through which contributions for furnishing the new wing of the hospital are expected.

Mrs. Bradbury is to live at 212½ East Main street in an apartment in the Mack Parrett home.

Mrs. Bradbury

Bloodhounds Need Training

NEWARK, N. J. — While bloodhounds have natural tracking ability, it takes a couple of years of patient training before a bloodhound learns the fine points.

So says patrolman Bill Taylor who makes a hobby of training the dogs. His prize pupil is a 100-pound pure-bred American Red who has proved his "nose" on several occasions. The dog's most spectacular feat was tracking a boy vandal two miles over mountains right to his front door.

Taylor says he first taught the dog to distinguish between scents of persons. Next Taylor had the dog follow an open trail of 100 feet, gradually lengthening it to more than two miles.

Stark And Hix Named Members

Unanimous election of Stark and Hix of Circleville to membership in the Ayrshire Breeders' Association has been announced.

The ancestors of the herd of dairy cows owned by Stark and Hix trace back to the heather-covered hills of County Ayr, Scotland, from which the breed derives its name. There are now more than 20,000 herds of Ayrshires in the United States.

AT THE AGE of 84, physical culturist Bernard McFadden kisses his wife goodbye as he takes off for Paris, France to make his third parachute jump. He stages such feats to demonstrate that clean living will keep a man young.

low members, far younger, Rankin could be on his feet in an eye-blink for a fight with his mouth or his fists. Size didn't faze him.

HIS FELLOW members, Presidents or even Supreme Court justices were all targets for his tongue and his temper.

In 1945 he swung on Frank Hook, a fellow Democrat from Michigan. Hook, one-time iron ore miner, was a lot bigger man. Rankin had accused Hook of consorting with Communists. When Hook called him a liar, Rankin swung.

Communism was on his mind. He was one of the most enthusiastic Communist-hunters of his time, a pursuit he developed as chairman of the House UnAmerican Activities Committee.

He was equally attentive to, and equally against, any civil rights moves by the Democratic administration. He was strictly for segregation of Negroes.

At the same time he championed the Tennessee Valley Authority, rural electrification, and war veterans. Veterans were his special province. He was chairman of the House Veterans Committee.

But for attentiveness to his job, he set an example. Up at six in the morning, he got down to his office before any of his staff. And he knew his way around Congress as few men did.

In spite of his shrewdness, events he couldn't control were Rankin's undoing. He lost his job through a reorganization of Congress.

In 16 previous elections Rankin had squeaked through, or breezed through, depending on who his opponent was. He might have kept doing that indefinitely.

But this year the Mississippi legislature, over his protests, combined his congressional district with that of Abernethy who has been a House member 10 years, and the two men had to fight each other for the one seat.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — John Rankin will have time to cool off now. For most of his life he's been as active and blazing as a man with a box of matches on fire in his hip pocket.

Rankin, the tireless champion of white supremacy who had his hand called on the floor of the House of Representatives for throwing around words like "kike" and "nigger" won't be back next year.

He had been a member of the House from Mississippi for 32 years. This week the voters of his state turned him down for renomination in favor of a fellow congressman, Thomas Abernethy, 49.

At 70, still as lively as a boy, Rankin is one of those old men who never seem bruised by the shoving around time gives them. Even his white hair seems to stand up in constant indignation.

At the same time he championed the Tennessee Valley Authority, rural electrification, and war veterans. Veterans were his special province. He was chairman of the House Veterans Committee.

But for attentiveness to his job, he set an example. Up at six in the morning, he got down to his office before any of his staff. And he knew his way around Congress as few men did.

In spite of his shrewdness, events he couldn't control were Rankin's undoing. He lost his job through a reorganization of Congress.

In 16 previous elections Rankin had squeaked through, or breezed through, depending on who his opponent was. He might have kept doing that indefinitely.

But this year the Mississippi legislature, over his protests, combined his congressional district with that of Abernethy who has been a House member 10 years, and the two men had to fight each other for the one seat.

World Today

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29 — John Rankin will have time to cool off now. For most of his life he's been as active and blazing as a man with a box of matches on fire in his hip pocket.

Rankin, the tireless champion of white supremacy who had his hand called on the floor of the House of Representatives for throwing around words like "kike" and "nigger" won't be back next year.

He had been a member of the House from Mississippi for 32 years. This week the voters of his state turned him down for re-election in favor of a fellow congressman, Thomas Abernethy, 49.

At 70, still as lively as a boy, Rankin is one of those old men who never seem bruised by the shoving around time gives them. Even his white hair seems to stand up in constant indignation.

Unlike some of his ponderous fel-

McMillan's Single Gives Redlegs Win

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29 — (AP)—Shortstop Roy McMillan's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Hank Edwards and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 win over the Boston Braves here Thursday.

McMillan's safety to centerfield, his only hit, came after singles by Edwards and Grady Hatton. It put reliever Frank Smith over the .500 mark, giving him 10 wins against nine losses, and tagged Sheldon Jones with his fourth loss, compared to a single victory.

It was the second straight time the two teams had gone into extra innings. Boston won Wednesday night in 10 innings, 12-7.

The Braves mustered 15 hits, nine off starter Harry Perkowsky before he gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth. The Reds pounded starter Jim Wilson and relief pitchers Bob Chipman and Jones for an even dozen.

Back to back doubles by Ted Kluszewski and Hatton gave the Reds a run in the second inning after Boston scored single runs in the first and second. The Reds routed Wilson with a three-run burst in the eighth on hits by Joe Adcock, Bobby Adams, Willard Marshall and Kluszewski, plus an error by Sam Jethroe.

Four Brave singles tied the game in the ninth and sent the game into extra innings.

McMillan's Single Gives Redlegs Win

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29 — (AP)—Shortstop Roy McMillan's two-out single in the 11th inning scored Hank Edwards and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 5-4 win over the Boston Braves here Thursday.

McMillan's safety to centerfield, his only hit, came after singles by Edwards and Grady Hatton. It put reliever Frank Smith over the .500 mark, giving him 10 wins against nine losses, and tagged Sheldon Jones with his fourth loss, compared to a single victory.

It was the second straight time the two teams had gone into extra innings. Boston won Wednesday night in 10 innings, 12-7.

The Braves mustered 15 hits, nine off starter Harry Perkowski before he gave way to a pinch-hitter in the eighth. The Reds doubled starter Jim Wilson and relief pitcher Bob Chipman and Jones for an even dozen.

Back to back doubles by Ted Kluszewski and Hatton gave the Reds a run in the second inning after Boston scored single runs in the first and second. The Reds routed Wilson with a three-run burst in the eighth on hits by Joe Adcock, Bobby Adams, Willard Marshall and Kluszewski, plus an error by Sam Jethroe.

Four Brave singles tied the game in the ninth and sent the game into extra innings.

lowan Leading Riflemen In Annual Shoot

CAMP PERRY, Aug. 29 — (AP)—John Moschkau of Waterloo, Ia., was in the lead Friday as the third day of shooting opened at the annual shooting sponsored by the Ohio Rifle and Pistol Association.

By winning both the 50-yard metallic sight and 40-shot, 100-yard, any sight, rifle contests Thursday, Moschkau had an 800-65x total to ward the grand aggregate championship.

Second in total points was Oliver Lauderman of Dayton who finished third in both events for a total of 800-60. Points went in the first day of shooting did not count toward the grand championship.

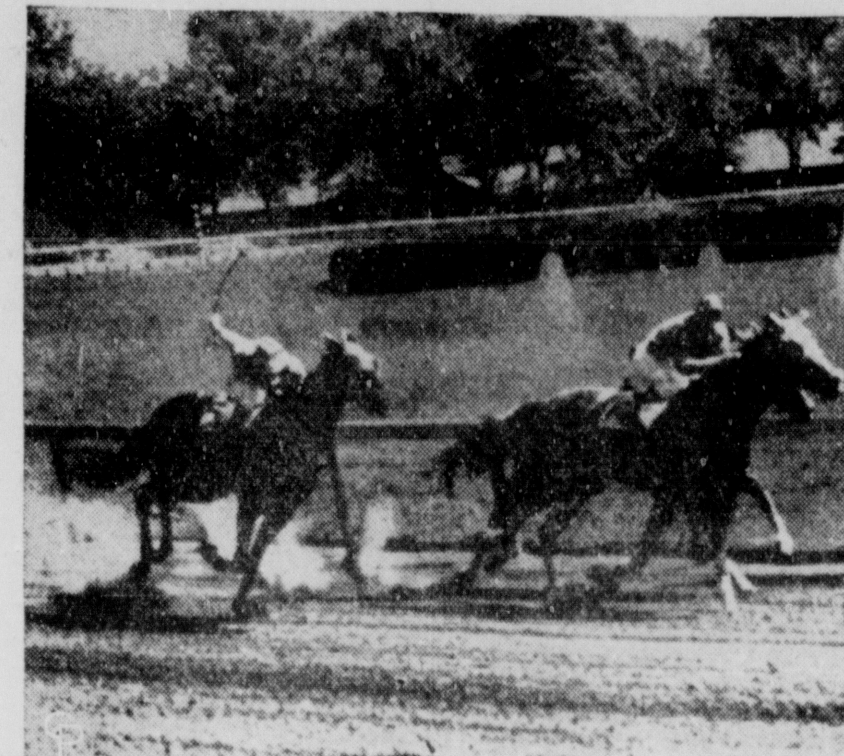

Moschkau posted 400-33x in the 50-yard shooting and Carl Petri of New York City was second with 400-32x.

In the 100-yard event Moschkau had 400-32x, Viola Pollum of Brookville, Pa., was second with 400-29x and Lauderman third with 400-28x.

Ivan Grilliot of Versailles, O., took the 200-yard, 20-shot, metallic sight rifle event with 196-8x.

Bums 'Sad' To See Blacky Go; Remember That 15-Run Inning

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 — (AP)—The mystery of the seven National League clubs passing up Ewell Blackwell for the $10,000 waiver price is only partially explained as baseball executives gave their reasons for allowing the former ace Cincinnati pitcher to go to the New York Yankees.

If Blackwell, winner of only three games against 12 losses, and currently plagued by a sore arm, should do an about face with the Yankees, there are sure to be some red faces in the National League.

Explaining why the Brooklyn Dodgers let Blacky out of the league, General Manager E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi said:

"We may be wrong but we don't think Blackwell has it anymore. Besides, he has a sore arm."

TV Not Necessarily Harmful To The Eyes, Experts Say

Strain Due To Forcing The Eyes

TV Enthusiast
Learns To See
3rd Dimension

As eyesight authorities dig more deeply into the effects of television on seeing, there is increasing agreement that the TV screen is not necessarily harmful, says the Better Vision Institute.

Special spectacle lenses have been devised to cut out the more unpleasant sensations. If you still experience eye fatigue, it may be because you are forcing your eyes to learn a new kind of skill.

The trouble with television, according to this theory, has to do with stereopsis, or depth perception, whereby one sees things in three dimensions.

This is an acquired skill, derived largely from experience. A baby has trouble in learning it, but when he becomes annoyed at trying to figure out the third dimension he closes his eyes or looks somewhere else. That is, he lets his attention lapse.

A television screen is approximately a flat surface in two dimensions. An ordinary photograph is also flat but we have no trouble in imagining a third dimension of depth in it, because we have learned to look at it that way.

BUT ON THE flat TV screen we actually see motion as well as depth, and that is something we have not learned to connect with a flat surface. So the eye struggles to learn how motion can be associated with flatness.

It is quite true the screen in a movie theater is also flat, and the motion of the picture does not cause any trouble to most eyes, though some people still feel visual fatigue at the movies. The movie screen, however, is large and surrounded by dimness, so that it occupies practically the whole field of vision.

There is nothing to destroy the illusion of looking through a picture window.

A television set, however, is a box set in the midst of other motionless objects, all more or less illuminated and all reminding us that we are looking at a small, flat screen on which, or behind which, we are asked to believe that movement is taking place.

Another complication is that the eye has to contend with different amounts of illumination at the same time, the bright screen sending its rays to the central part of the eye and the less illuminated surroundings recording themselves on the outer parts of the retina.

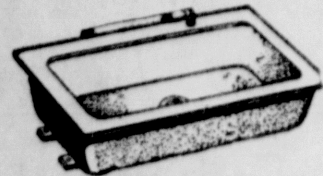

Hines Ayrshire Rated Highly

An Ayrshire sire, Walnut View Macia's Boy, owned by Myrtle Hines and Sons of near Ashville, was given the high rating by the Ayrshire Breeders' Association.

The Ayrshire "approved" rating has been given to the sire in recognition of the superior producing ability of his daughters when compared to their dams.

The Hines sire qualified on his 10 daughters which average 10,216 pounds of 4.12 per cent milk and 421 pounds of butterfat.

LETS FACE IT... the long Summer vacation is over and it's only a few more days until Pickaway County youngsters will be trudging back to the old grind. All of the county schools will resume operations Tuesday with half-day sessions, with the first full day of school scheduled for Wednesday. Circleville city schools will begin the 1952-53 term on Sept. 8. Both the county and city schools will boast increases in enrollment this fall, new records in local school history.

Leists Present Program For Rotarians

Mac Noggle presided at a meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club Thursday in the Elk's home.

Noggle announced a director's meeting will be held Wednesday. Each director will make a report.

Harry Reese, district governor of Rotary International, will be present for the next meeting.

Serving committee for the month of September will be Dr. Robert Smith, Herbert Snyder, Boyd Stout, William Weldon and Charles Walters.

A committee named to plan the amateur show during the 1952 Circleville Pumpkin Show is made up of Ray Friend, William Weldon and David Orr.

Carl C. Leist and son, Warren Leist, presented Thursday's program. Their program was upon "A Trip Through the Cradles of Democracy," showing colored slides of their recent trips through the east.

The pictures included scenes taken in Pennsylvania; site of the battle of Gettysburg; monuments; Philadelphia; Independence Hall; Bucks County, Va.; Washington D.C.; and other places where Democracy was born and is now in action.

Wedded Beauties To Shun Scanties

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Aug. 29 —(P)—Scanty bathing suits are out for beauties entered in the finals of the 14th annual Mrs. America contest on Sept. 7.

While the contestants will be judged on their charms as well as home making ability, Bikini type suits have been tabooed. The committee said that although the contest's claim is that married women are prettier than single girls, contestants have been warned not to go too far out on the limb to prove it.

One type of extinct American elephant attained a height of 14 feet.

Educators OK UNESCO Text

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 29 —(P)—The Los Angeles city board of education, after listening to six months of debate for and against the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations study program, has voted to reinstate it in the city schools.

But, the board voted unanimously Thursday night, only on "an impartial and factual basis."

Veterans' groups had fought the program, charging it minimized national loyalty.

Best Hobby To Have Is Hobby Of Collecting Other Hobbyists

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK—(P)—Mankind is divided into two classes:

1. Those with hobbies.
2. People who enjoy life.

This is fortunate for the peace of the world. For one of the spiritual requirements of a man with a hobby is the existence of other people who have no hobby of their own and are therefore free to admire him for his.

There is a legend that hobbyists are happy in each other's company because they share a mutual enthusiasm—be it collecting old moss or two-headed butterflies.

But this is pure fiction. Because two men are married do they like to listen to each other talk about their wives? It is the same way with hobbies. People with the same hobby bore each other to death. How can one stamp collector love a n o t h e r stamp collector if the second one has a stamp the first one doesn't.

They are not pals but mortal enemies, divided forever by pride and envy of possession. It is the same way with people who hoard first editions or matchbook covers or do needlepoint.

That is why folks who are ridden by a hobby horse need someone like me. My hobby is collecting people who have hobbies themselves, and I can recommend it to you. It works both ways. You give them the praise they yearn for, and in gratitude they reap whatever advantage their hobby has for you.

But a word of caution is in order. Don't collect any old hobbyists to admire. Limit your circle to friends whose hobbies can be of concrete benefit to you.

Here are a few to avoid:

1. Speleologists, or cave explorers.
2. People who breed cats, dogs or racehorses. If they come up with a Rin-Tin-Tin or a Man-o-War, they won't give him to you.

3. Bric-a-brac collectors.

4. Amateur geneologists. If they find they have a fine family tree, do you think they'll let you roost in it?

Hobbyists of this kind are a total loss. They want adulation and respect from you, but they give nothing in return for the time they take. On the other hand, here are a few types of hobbyists the wise man will court:

1. People who grow roses.
2. People who grow tomatoes, sweet corn and radishes.
3. People who collect vintage wines.
4. Camera Bugs.
5. Motoring enthusiasts.
6. Philanthropists.

The advantages of these splendid folks are obvious. They have to share their hobbies. Brag on them the least bit, and they will supply flowers for your home, fresh vegetables and wine for your table, free photographic portraits of you to give your relatives at Christmas, and cheap

Jokers Set Fire To Man's Pants

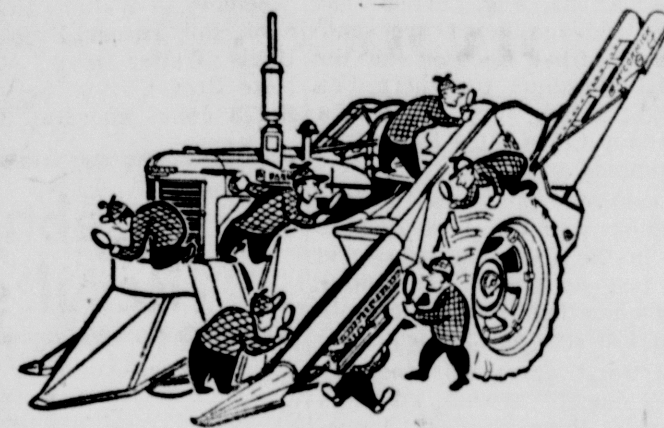

BOWLING GREEN, Ky., Aug. 29 —(P)—A badly-burned 39-year-old Negro was carried into court here Thursday to testify against two white men accused of setting fire to his gasoline-saturated overalls.

The incident occurred June 14 at a feed mill where Joe Simmons said the men — James Chaffin, 30, and James Cherry, 25 — grabbed him and saturated his trouser legs with gasoline, set them afire. Chaffin and Cherry told police it was only a prank and didn't mean to hurt Simmons.

HUSKOR
The M-M HUSKOR is a 2-row picker-busker. It's the latest, newest, most modern.

IT GETS THE EARS
MUCH LONGER PICKING ROLLS ARE SET JUST RIGHT and both ends run on roller bearings. Together with the gathering chains they practically pick the ears off the ground. Snouts are adjustable and flat in each position.

IT HUSKS CLEANER
4 MORE HUSKING ROLLS than most—2 more than any. Elevator and corn divider distribute ears evenly over full area of this large husking bed.

IT RUNS SMOOTHER, QUIETER, LIGHTER
FEWER but better GEARS and CHAINS. BEARINGS ARE ROLLER OR BRONZE. IMPORTANT GEARS ARE ENCLOSED.

IT IS BUILT LIGHTER, MORE SIMPLE AND MORE DURABLE—A real bridge trussed frame with adjustable hitch.

Also Makers of Shellers—All Steel—Roller Bearings—Enclosed Gears

For three decades the Minneapolis Shellers have been the leaders and best sellers because they are the best shellers. These new M-M shellers with all steel construction, enclosed cut gears and roller bearings, far outclass even the older models—called "the most satisfactory farm machines built."

M-M cylinder shellers run lighter, shell faster and better, do a better cleaning job, and do not break the cobs to bits. Shell snapped or husked corn! Built to last for years!

Model "A": 40-inch long cylinder. Capacity: From 200 to 600 bushels of snapped corn—500 to 800 bushels of husked corn per hour. Power: 2 or 3-hp tractor.

Model "B": 53½ inch long cylinder and cage. Capacity: 300 to 900 bushels of snapped corn or 800 to 1400 bushels of husked corn per hour. Power: 3 or 4-hp tractor and up.
